

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of producing a multimedia media by accessing, selecting, arranging, composing, compressing, and previewing multimedia materials. The method comprises the intercommunication of computers, imaging
5 devices or kiosks communicating over an internet or communications network to author a multimedia media. The devices share capability over the network to produce the multimedia media. The resultant multimedia media is returned from a fulfillment center.

10020560-120701